With a little help of VMS' Friends (season 2)

(Gérard Calliet
recorded by HP-Interex France)

Good trip

Heureux qui, comme Ulysse, a fait un beau voyage,
Ou comme cestuy-là qui conquit la toison,
Et puis est retourné, plein d'usage et raison,
Vivre entre ses parents le reste de son âge !

Joachim Du Bellay

Good trip

- Happy like Ulysess…

Good trip

- Odysseus is fine :
  - The ship and the crew are fine (HP & us)
  - We CAN go home (Convergence)
  - Penelope is waiting for us (ours intrinsiq qualities can be preserved every night)

Bad trip

- The captain scuttled the ship

Bad trip

- Why ?

- Excel mermaids + forgotten links ?

Good trip & bad trip

- There are some serious reasons

- The mission critical IT systems context is changing
    - (see With a little help of VMS's friend (season 1))

    ☐We have to do somethings

Going back to Itaque

- HP cannot be the « hub » in this context
- We have to go from centralised processing to CO-PROCESSING

- How ?
  - We must demonstrate we exist
  - We must demonstrate we have the willingness

We demonstrate we exist

- How many companies, customers, users
- How much turnover, billions of line code
- How our qualities are rare
- What is possible / impossible for us in a « transition »

☐We are a major part of Odysseus

We have the willingness

- We aknowledge the mission critical world has changed

- We prove we can change, we are opened...

- And it is not the same thing that forgetting our mission critical necessities

We need convergence

Action !

- HP-Interex France initiated a survey (read it, download it, answer at www.hp-interex.fr)

- Other initiatives exist (In Sweeden, with Sue Skonetsky…)

- We have to coordinate
